Outlawing in Texas—The Contested Prize Stakes.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—The two men who were brought from Carter to St. Louis charged with an assault by whipping, were discharged by the United States Commissioner. The affair was non-political and therefore the kluks act was inoperative. The Sheriff's posse from Brownsville, Texas, surrounded four marauders, three of whom made their escape to Mexico and were hung by the Sheriff's confederates on the other side. The fourth was shot by the Sheriff.

The lightning in Nueces county killed one person, paralyzed another and burned one house.

Both O'Baldwin and Mace, the prize fighters, claim the stakes.

A mixed freight and passenger train on the Chicago and Dubuque Railroad was thrown from the track by a maliciously placed obstruction. Two persons were killed and four probably fatally hurt.

The Tribune says Comptroller Connelly has not been further than fifty miles from New York—most of the time in West Chester county; that he will turn State's evidence and his testimony will absolutely convict Tweed and twenty other ring officials, whose names have not so far been published. He will first appear to testify against the voucher thieves under Attorney General Barlow's instructions.

Thomas H. Dungee, aged forty years, a wealthy English American and a whole-sale lace importer, attempted suicide four times yesterday. He first ran a needle in his throat and then rushed to the drug store, and seizing a bottle marked poison swallowed the contents; he then stabbed himself with a pen knife, and when seized and rescued for the third time he broke away and plunged a butcher knife into his breast. The latter is probably a fatal wound. Delirium tremens was the cause.

SAVANNAH, August 23.—The Georgia Press Association will meet at Atlanta, Thursday, September 5th.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—It was rumored this afternoon that Deputy Sheriff Jarvis was to make an important arrest to-night. Information has been received here from Troy to-day of the arrest of a man supposed to be Steiner, the absconding agent of the Garde Republicaine Band.

The Irish Band had another split and seven of them with their leader, Thomas D. Richardson, sailed for Europe to-day. Some of the members will go to Canada, and two remain in this city.

ST. LOUIS, August 24.—There has been over 20 strokes in the last three days, most of which were fatal. The mercury stood for the past week at from 95 to 100°.

Gen. Slocum for Governor of New York.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—It is thought that Gen. Slocum will be the Democratic candidate for Governor.

A Martinsburg dispatch states that enough is known from West Virginia to know that the Constitution was defeated and Jacobs elected.

A dispatch from Wheeling says that scattering returns from fourteen counties favor the election of Jacobs and the defeat of the Constitution.

COLUMBIA, S. C., Aug. 24.—The regular Republican convention was adjourned until to-day by the chairman. Crimination and recrimination preceded the adjournment.

The bolters held a meeting, J. L. Orr presiding.

Both parties disavow any desire to conciliate the Democrats, or to court their favor.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 24.—Judge Sanford E. Church, in a letter to Hon. Wm. Williams, positively declines the candidacy for Governor.

FOREIGN.

Scoundrelism in Cuba—More Disorder at Havana.

HAVANA, August 24.—Advices say the insurgents are massing all their forces to make a fresh movement on the Cinco Villas. Havana is overrun with scoundrels of every description, and constant murders and robberies are committed. The police are seemingly powerless.

MADRID, August 24.—Further trouble on the provinces, bordering on France are apprehended.

It is now known that the Government has received information of an organized plan for an insurrection in the disaffected provinces in the North. The time fixed by the revolutionists for their uprising is the 28th.

The French Government has been informed of the plans of the conspirators and requested to use precautions to prevent them from receiving aid from France.

It is believed the approaching election of members of the Cortes will result in the choice of a large majority of members favorable to the Government. The indications are that not more than one hundred Republicans will be elected. The Carlists, as in previous elections, will abstain from voting.

LONDON, August 24.—Private dispatches report the Belfast riots renewed with several bloody conflicts.

Rubenstein, the pianist, arrived here this morning en route for America.

PARIS, August 23.—The Garde Republicaine Band gave a concert in Havre last evening for the benefit of Alsations who have left their native country in consequence of its occupation by Germans. A number of Alsation girls, dressed in mourning and carrying the French national colors, took up a collection from the audience. The greatest enthusiasm was manifested and a large sum of money was obtained.

WASHINGTON.

Use of Postal Cards Postponed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 24.—Boutwell will return the first of September.

There is a balance of $4,250,000 in currency in the Treasury, which is unusually low.

The Attorney General decides that, under existing laws, the Postmaster General has no authority to spend money for postal cards which Congress authorized, but for which no appropriation was made. The introduction of the postal card system must await the further action of Congress.

UNARMED ANDY ON THE WAR PATH.

Andy Johnson out for Congress.

He Denounces the Rebel Ring and Appeals to the People.

"The Tidal Wave Rolls On."

Special to Daily Chronicle.

NASHVILLE, Aug. 24—11:30, P. M.

The demonstration this evening of the workingmen, in honor of Andrew Johnson, was a success. Several thousand people assembled in the Public Square to hear his address, in which he announced himself a candidate for Congress for the State at large against Cheatham.

He denounced the late Democratic Convention in very severe terms, and appealed to the people to break down the military and rebel ring now controlling the State and the Democratic party. His speech lasted an hour, and although many people were attracted by curiosity, there is evidently deep dissatisfaction with the Cheatham nomination, and the bitterness manifested by the factions is very great.

It's mighty cruel in Andy to break up the Nashville, Brown, Burch, Fleming ring. They had a soft thing of it, but Andy will smash things. Cheatham's legions in West Tennessee are mustering for the fray. Look out for thunder.

ANDY is on the war path and will make "Rome howl." Will King Isham Harris canvass East Tennessee with Andy or will he leave him to roam king of the mountain forests?

THE "big organ" has not yet hoisted the name of Cheatham. What's the matter. Is it waiting to see where the current runs. Will it be for Andy or for the "ring?"

National Camp Meeting.

The National Camp Meeting Committee have agreed to hold a National Camp Meeting near this city, commencing September 21st, 1872, and lasting from eight to ten days.

From twenty to twenty-five of the ablest ministers of our Church are expected to be present, representing the talent of the North, South, East and West. The Grand Tabernacle, capable of seating 5,000 persons will be erected, where services will be held from three to four times each day.

A large stand will also be erected, in front of which seats will be arranged to accommodate 6,000 persons. Seventy-five large and commodious tents will be sent to this place, which can be rented by families for $5.00 each, by applying to either of us, and when rented become the private home of the occupant, as much so as the present home you occupy. Two families might camp together and occupy one tent.

A committee here will erect the tents. You are earnestly solicited to make arrangements to come and tent on the ground. Come! It will be the greatest feast of your life. No matter what church you belong to, come in the name of the LORD.

Dear Brother, please do all you can to awaken an interest, and secure tent-holders. We ought to have a tent-holder on the ground. The place selected is beautiful, situated on the Knoxville and Ohio railroad, about 4 miles from Knoxville. We will try and make arrangements with the railroads to carry to and from the Camp Grounds at half fare. A large boarding tent will be erected and kept by a Christian gentleman, where all persons not having tents can be accommodated. We hope no one will come to the Camp meeting expecting to sponge their way off of the tent holders. We can accommodate all with tents, for the small sum of $5.00. Please send us your orders before all are gone.

Republican Meeting.

A large and enthusiastic meeting of the Republicans of the 11th and adjacent districts was held yesterday at Sway's Chapel. Grant and Wilson had the support of a large majority of the audience present. Addresses were made by Esquire Brandon, C. O. Harris, of Washington, James Scott, J. B. Young and others. A bountiful repast was provided to which ample justice was done by all, men, women and children. The meeting was a complete success and will be productive of great good to the party.

Personal.

Hon. Horace Maynard arrived home yesterday from Atlanta, Ga., at which place he addressed the Republican State Convention, returning by the way of Nashville.

Mr. J. B. Johnson, of the Knoxville Iron Company, returned to this city yesterday from his trip through the North, East and West. He traversed fourteen States and the indications are, so far as his observation extends, that President Grant will be re-elected by a heavy vote.

Rev. C. W. Charlton returned yesterday from a trip in the interests of the fair. He is constantly on the wing and won't find much rest for the sole of his foot until after the 20th of October.

Camp Meeting.

The meeting at Fountain Head camp ground continues with unabated interest, though the excitement is not so great as in former years. Rev. J. E. Godfrey, of Atlanta, Ga., will preach in the forenoon, Rev. Geo. D. French at three in the afternoon, and Rev. R. N. Price, editor of the Holston Methodist, at night. A large number will doubtless visit the grounds to-day.

FROM VIRGINIA.

A Specimen Democratic Convention.

ABINGDON, VA., August 23d, 1872.

EDITORS CHRONICLE: Yesterday the Democratic Conservative counties of the 9th Congressional District of Virginia met here for the purpose of nominating their candidate. They met at 10 A. M., and effected a temporary organization by noon, and appointed committees on permanent organization and credentials, and in the afternoon made a permanent organization by electing Col. A. Fulkerson, of Washington county, chairman, and Webster, of Roanoke, and Fowler, of Brazelton, Secretaries, and adjourned to meet at 8 P. M., to hear the committee on credentials.

Promptly at eight the convention was called to order, and I wish that every Liberal Republican, and Horace Greeley, and Gilbert C. Walker, in particular, had of been here to have seen and heard. Walker was called a rotten Radical, and the words were cheered to the echo. Greeley was pronounced the worst enemy the South ever had, and the language brought forth round after round of applause. It was a bitter fight, and the man that could say the hardest things about these fellows they are using as "tools," as they say, and had the best Confederate military record, was the man that carried his point and received applause.

The most elegant (?) language was indulged in. "Lars," &c., was freely used, and "pistols and coffee for two" frequently talked about, but there was no fighting. After most terrific quarreling over every motion and resolution that was brought before it, the convention adjourned till 8 o'clock this morning.

The fight seems to be between two Confederate Generals—viz: Terry, the present member, and Walker. Other candidates are hardly spoken of, though another one might be taken as a compromise man. It is Abingdon against Bristol, or the Consolidationists against the anti-Consolidationists. Walker is Mahone's (or the Consolidationists) candidate and Terry the anti-Consolidationist.

Some persons say it is the fight of the Whig and Democratic party over again, and that the Whigs on Terry have the inside track. How that is will soon be told, for the balloting will commence pretty quick. Six names were put in nomination, to wit: Walker, Terry, Holdway, Dunn, Bowen and Richardson. Holdway was dropped on the first, Richardson on the second, and Bowen nominated on the third ballot. A victory for Abingdon, a draw battle for the rest.

The nominee is known as General Bowen, but his military record is wanting, I believe. He is a fine looking old gentleman, about sixty years of age and said to be every inch a full man. After the nomination there was a general jubilee and speeches by all the disappointed. I never witnessed as fair a convention. Virginia Democrats nearly all drink liquor when in politics they meet. They have had quite a lot of lay (on the street) members.

HENRY.

Let us Have Faith.

"Encouraged by the few who believe in him through all," I blessed his faith. I know I have been believed into every good thing I have ever done or been in this world. I have such faith in faith that I am almost persuaded a politician might be believed into the kingdom of Heaven, or a mediocre poet into a genius. I am sure many a righteous man has been suspected into a rascal.

Did not a dear and gentle friend of mine confess that if he had remained much longer in the employ of a certain Christian person (God save the mark!) of a sneaking, suspicious nature, he would have taken incontinently to picking pockets!

A fig for the man who has "never been deceived," and the woman who knows from the beginning the plot of a novel. This is the crowning sin of imposture; that it lessens men's faith in their fellow-men.

Blessed, I say, be faith; for by it shall the world be saved.—The Old Cabinet, in Scribner's for September.

What has Brought About the Decline in Gold.

The financial reporter of the New York Herald, in his article in the issue of that paper for Wednesday, the 21st, explaining the break in the gold market, uses the following language, which shows pretty clearly the view taken of the political prospect by the shrewd dealers on Wall street:

"Three several reasons are now claimed to have entered into the calculations on which the 'bulls' based their recent retreat from the speculation for a rise in gold. These are, in brief, the culmination of the Chicago 'corner' in wheat, the verdict at Saratoga and the latter more encouraging prospects of a re-election of the present Administration at Washington. We give the last reason, not from any political ones of our own, but simply as an influence which entered into the causes operating to effect the decline in gold."

The Heated Term in Switzerland.

The Swiss Times, received by to-day's steamer, says: "The heat has been almost unbearable. The cattle retire even at day-break to the stalls. The glaciers have not melted so much for many years. Large masses, as big as churches, roll into precipices below with a loud noise like thunder. Wild animals of all kinds are visible. Numerous herds of chamois are pasturing in common with cattle, and become confident as long as no one attempts to deprive them of their freedom."—Wash. Cor. Cin. Commercial.

I once knew an industrious boy whose parents were poor but honest. He began life without a cent. He had a wart on his nose and a sore foot; but nothing daunted, he worked with a determination and a will, and nobly fought his way along, surmounting every obstacle. Notice the result. A few days ago I met him for the first time in ten years, and that little boy who began life only ten short years ago without a cent, hasn't got a red cent yet.

I shall ever consider Si amons' Liver Regulator as the preserver of a life of my little son, who is now in blooming health.

THURLOW WEED.

The Victim Politician in Retirement.

The nomination of General Dix for Governor of New York by the Republicans is universally conceded to be a very strong one and certain to give the State to the administration. The master hand that brought it about was Thurlow Weed the great "Warwick" of the Whig and Republican parties. A correspondent thus writes about him:

Retired from public life, he resides in a princely mansion on the corner of Fifth avenue and Twelfth street, New York city. His home is a model of comfort, elegance and unostentatious luxury; rich in treasures of art gathered during successive trips to Europe. The pictures that adorn the library and drawing-room walls are such as are seldom seen in private collections, gems by the best modern painters, copies of famous masterpieces, with several originals by the great French, German and Italian masters.

Mr. Weed does not live wholly in the past. His mind and his body are equally active. He goes to market regularly every morning, takes long walks when it is cool, and usually rides several miles in the afternoon and evening. Occasionally he spends an hour at the club, or takes a walk down to Clifford street to see his old friend Harper, the great publisher—or drops into the office of the New York Times, where, I fancy his influence is still greatly felt. He is a diligent reader of the papers, and writes or rather dictates, more or less every day. I visited him during the recent terrible "hot term," when the city was being dominated by sunstroke, yet I found him with the thermometer at ninety-eight, absorbed in literary labor.

"Shoot So Long as it Was."

A Chicago correspondent sends the following: At a recent trial before Justice Dougherty it was thought important by counsel to determine the length of time certain "2 quarters of beef, 2 hogs and 1 sheep" remained in an express wagon in front of plaintiff's store before they were taken away by defendant. The witness under examination was a German, whose knowledge of the English language was very limited; but he testified in a very plain, straight-forward way to having afterward carried it out and put it into the aforesaid wagon.

Then the following ensued:

Consul—"State to the jury how long it was after you took the meat from the store and put it into the wagon before it was taken away."

Witness—"Now I shoot and dell dat. I dinks 'bout twelve feet. I not say neare as dat."

Counsel—"You don't understand me. How long was it from the time the meat left the store, and was put into the wagon, before it was taken away by defendant?"

Witness—"Now I know not what you ask dat. Der wagon he was back up mit der sidewalk, and dat's shoot so long as it was. You tell me how long der sidewalk was. Den I tells you how long it was."

Counsel—"I don't want to find out how long the sidewalk was, but I want to know" (speaking very slowly) "how long this meat was in the wagon before it was taken away."

Witness—"Oh! dat! Well, now, I not sold any meat so. I all time weigh him; never measured meat, not yet. But I dinks 'bout three feet." (Here the spectators and the jury smiled audibly.)

I delly you all I can so good as I know."

Counsel—"Look here, I want to know how long it was before the meat was taken away after it was put into the wagon?"

Witness—"Looking very knowingly at counsel—"Fow you ivy and get me in a scrape. Dat meat was shoot so long in der wagon as he was in der shop. Dat's all I told you. Dat meat was dead meat. He not got much longer in den dousan's year, not mooch."

Counsel—"That will do."

The Importance of Astronomy.

Aside from all other features of usefulness, it may be noted that astronomical observations afford the best means of defining the boundaries of nations. It required sixty years to run the boundary between Great Britain and the United States after the conclusion of the Revolution. The dispute almost led to a war, but was happily settled by a compromise. Had that line been designated by latitude and longitude instead of the highlands of the St. Croix river, it could at once have been fixed beyond controversy. A similar error occurred in the treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo, made between the United States and Mexico in 1848, by means of which the Mesilla Valley was lost to us, and it was only by the payment of ten millions of dollars that the mistake was rectified. Such was the penalty which correct astronomical calculation would have obviated. With regard to its use at sea, an illustration may be found in the "dead reckoning" of the humblest vessel that sails out of the sight of land.—Cor. N. Y. Evening Post.

Campaign Notes.

The Apollo Hall, Senator O'Brien Democracy of New York City have voted to support Gen. Dix, the Republican candidate for Governor of New York.

Fred. Douglas was justly honored with a position on the Electoral ticket of New York. He is now making some able speeches in Maine.

The recent Democratic nominations in Missouri are not regarded as giving any strength to the party.

Doolittle, the great reformer, has been convicted by the New York Times of speculating in cotton in partnership with a young friend for whom, while a Senator in Congress during the war, he obtained permits to trade in cotton.

Crack Prices for New Cotton.

A bale of cotton received yesterday by Thomas Parks & Co., from G. P. Landman, of Huntsville, Alabama, was sold for 23c per pound.

The one received by McAlister & Whelless from J. W. Hopkins & Bro., of Madison Station, Alabama, was bought by Col. S. D. Morgan, President of the Tennessee Manufacturing Association, for 27c per pound. Both bales were of strict low middling grade. Samples of this year's staple grown on the Colored Manual Labor Society's farm, in Rutherford county, are on our desk.—Nashville Banner, 23rd.

THE OLD WHITE HAT.

BY BOB JENNINGS.

When this Old Hat was new, my boys, The Democrats swore freely, And day and night, with great delight, They damned old Horace Greeley. But now a change has o'er them come, The like I never saw.

They now are wearing Greeley hats, And shouting Chappaqua.

Charles Sumner's now a patriot, A statesman tried and true, But Bully Brooks broke Sumner's head, When this Old Hat was new.

The Democrats all cried well done, And said he'd got his due, And swore they'd hang old Greeley next, When this Old Hat was new.

When this Old Hat was new, my boys, The very air was rent— The Democrats led to victory led The Democratic clan.

But now they have ruled Daniel out; They say he will not do, Because he stands right where he stood When this Old Hat was new.

But Daniel will not stand the storm; He soon will come to "taw," He yet will sing in sweetest strains The song of Chappaqua.

When this Old Hat was new, my boys, The very air was rent— With shouts from Democratic throats, For a "white man's gov-ernment."

But now they are for equal rights To every race and hue, Then turned their backs on all they said, When this Old Hat was new.

But still it does seem strange to me, 'Tis hard to think so really, That Hendricks should be shoved aside For a nigger-loving Greeley.

For Hendricks was a Democrat— To his party always true, And Greeley was its direct foe, When this Old Hat was new.

But let us take our dish of dirt And try and push it through, And turn our backs upon the past, When this Old Hat was new.

And when we get old Greeley in, We'll send him to that shore, Where Harrison and Taylor's gone before.

And then with Gratz and Cousin Frank, And all of the Blair crew, We'll soon reason the days of yore, When this Old Hat was new.
